Just Mediation Pittsburgh Services

Just Mediation Pittsburgh

Just Mediation Pittsburgh is a nonprofit dedicated to helping landlords and tenants find solutions to housing disputes.

JMP Facilitation Services- Facilitation processes are used for large group conversations. Facilitators raise issues without harming relationships, shift conversations to effective interactions, foster collaboration, re-frame issues, and promote effective problem solving. The facilitator helps people achieve their collective goals by identifying non-productive patterns, helping people build relationships that last, and enhancing communication. Facilitators uncover perceptions that can derail conversations, manage strong emotions, remove barriers to mutual understanding, change the tone of hard-to-manage conflicts, and strengthen relationships by engaging in conversations that have been avoided.

JMP Customized Workshops- Interested in the ways in which dispute resolution can enhance your environment? JMP provides customized workshops, tailored to the needs of each organization. Did you know that unresolved workplace conflict causes productivity levels to drastically decrease? What if everyone in your organization had the tools to resolve conflicts? JMP's customized workshops will assist governmental units, not-for-profit organizations, schools, faith-based institutions, and community groups.

Fees for Services provided - JMP works with each client to outline a scope of work to meet their specific needs. Once the needs are determined JMP proposes a price that includes meeting design, preparation, on-site facilitation, supplies, travel costs (if applicable), and report writing. After the price is agreed upon, a contract for service is generated. Please be advised other associated costs may factor into your planning, such as, meeting room rental, food and beverage, as well as, travel reimbursements for participants.

If you would like to receive a quote for service, we would be happy to discuss your project and develop a quote for your consideration. To arrange a preliminary discussion and quote, please contact Aaron Erb or Brenda Harris at 412-228-0730. The hours will include the time of the session, preparation, administrative costs, and debrief.

The Communicator is the official newsletter of the Mon Valley Providers Council (MVPC), an alliance of over 70 human service agencies serving more than 37 communities in the Mon Valley of Allegheny County. The MVPC is a program of the Human Services Center, a United Way Agency. 2021 MVPC Highlights

Virtual Job Fair Webinar

In July, the MVPC Working Group on Employment and Training hosted its second "How to Attend a Virtual JobFair" webinar for job seekers. The Working Group partnered with Ken McCoy of Equus Solutions to provided an overview of what a virtual job fair is, what job seekers should expect, and how to prepare for success when attending one. As we continue to operate in a predominantly online world, the MVPC wants to provide job seekers with the skills necessary to succeed. You can check out the webinar here.

Air Quality Series

The Allegheny County Health Department, Breathe PA, Breathe Project, and Women for a Healthy Environment joined us for a three-part series on air quality and health in the Mon Valley. The speakers shared how air quality can impact our health like asthma and chronic health issues, as well as how to report air quality issues to the Health Department. More than 50 individuals joined us for this series.

Life in an Ever-Changing Landscape

The Working Groups on Health and Youth partnered to host this webinar. The last two years have been a challenging time for our communities, and also for the staff of the nonprofits and agencies that comprise the MVPC. This event offered a way for staff to come together and learn about resiliency and self-care, and skills to help them adapt to our changing workplaces, schools, homes, and more. 11 providers attended this event.

University of Pittsburgh School of Social Work

The University of Pittsburgh School of Social Work's Master of Social Work program offers options that fit your lifestyle and budget! Pitt Social Work offers part-time, full-time, and advanced standing options, including the new 12-month advanced standing program.

Pitt's MSW degree offerings include Specializations in Direct Practice or Community, Organization, and Social Action (COSA). Students can also earn certificates in mental health; children, youth, and families; gerontology; home and school visitor; integrated healthcare; and human services administration. Pitt Social Work also offers over 156 paid training and pre-doctoral fellowships that offer innovative training and financial support.

The University of Pittsburgh School of Social Work is committed to its mission of preparing courageous leaders to transform social work practice, policy, research, and education in a community-engaged and inclusive environment. We build and develop collaborative partnerships to understand, prevent, and ameliorate complex social problems with innovative approaches that promote social justice.

Pitt Social Work is ranked 17th in the nation by U.S. News & World Report among graduate schools of social work. Founded in 1918, it was the first school in the country to offer a program in community organization and one of the first to offer a specialization in child welfare.

The school's three degree programs— Bachelor of Arts in Social Work, Master of Social Work, and Doctor of Philosophy— are taught by one of the most diverse faculties at the University and instill in students a commitment to racial, social, and economic justice. As part of one of the leading public research universities in the world, social work students can take advantage of joint degree programs in several of the University's highly ranked professional schools.

The school's vision statement to transform – our world, our future, ourselves -- cannot be accomplished without centering anti-racism as an essential and non-negotiable commitment for our school and each member of it: students, staff, and faculty. With our Center on Race and Social problems as an integral part of our school, we build on our history of tackling issues of racism through teaching, research, and service. We have committed ourselves to a set of guiding principles and activities to assure that we are always working to become a more anti-racist, anti-oppressive, inclusive, and welcoming school.

Youth Vaping Epidemic

Adagio Health

Vaping has become increasingly popular among school-aged children and teens in recent years. National data released in September by the FDA and the CDC shows that more than two million middle and high school youth have tried vaping at least once in the last 30 days. Of those current users, nearly a quarter report daily use of e-cigarettes or vaping devices.

Adagio Health is meeting the vaping crisis in Allegheny County and Southwestern Pennsylvania head on. Nearly 7,200 Allegheny County youth between 6th and 12th grade were surveyed by PAYS, 11.2% of whom identified as Black or African American. While the county's youth vaping numbers closely mirror those of the state, one noticeable exception was 12th grade respondents. More than 38% of the county's seniors reported having used vaping devices or e-cigarettes in the past 30 days, over 5% higher than the statewide number. For surrounding counties, the average percentage of all youth who identified as current users of vaping devices was 29%, ten points higher than the state. Multiple factors contribute to the attractiveness of exploring vaping products for youth. First and foremost are the marketing tactics of Big Tobacco, including sleek device designs and flavored products. Kids will also imitate behaviors they see in adults, be they parents or other adults in their life or celebrity influencers on social media. And while in some circles, vaping is seen as a "safer" alternative to smoking -- the negative health impacts of vaping vastly outnumber the perceived benefits, especially in young people. Besides nicotine, the highly addictive drug found in cigarettes, over sixty chemicals can be found in vape juice, including those found in embalming fluid, weed killer, and car exhaust.

As the regional primary contractor for Allegheny County and Southwestern Pennsylvania, Tobacco Free Adagio Health collaborates with schools, youth programs, businesses, universities, nonprofits, and municipal governments to prevent and reduce tobacco use in all forms. Trained subject matter experts proudly work with disparate populations throughout the county to educate the public on the harmful effects of smoking, vaping, and exposure to secondhand smoke. Certified Tobacco Treatment Specialists help current smokers access resources they need to quit nicotine and tobacco for good and offer virtual, in-person, individual, or group cessation classes. Early intervention, youth prevention, and cessation programs like Why Animals Don't Smoke, Catch My Breath, and the American Lung Association-developed INDEPTH and Not On Tobacco (N-O-T) programs help youth of all ages learn about the dangers of nicotine and tobacco and help educate on alternatives to smoking and vaping. The Tobacco Resistance Unit (TRU) is a Pennsylvania Alliance to Control Tobacco (PACT) and American Lung Association (ALA) initiative for middle and high schools throughout the region that helps kids stand up to Big Tobacco and advocate for nicotine-free lifestyles. Policy specialists provide technical assistance to businesses, organizations, municipalities, and housing spaces to reduce exposure to secondhand smoke where people live, work, and play. For more information, visit https://tobaccofree.adagiohealth.org/.

Online GED Classes at Goodwill

Goodwill of Southwestern Pennsylvania offers free online GED classes to help students improve their education from the comfort and safety of their own home.

Goodwill's classes prepare students to take a high school equivalency test (GED® or HiSET) so they can earn their Commonwealth Secondary School Diploma.

All classes incorporate reading comprehension and math computation, help students build and master academic language and reasoning within the subject areas on the Language Arts, Mathematics, Science, and Social Studies tests.

Success in Hard Times

Goodwill of Southwestern Pennsylvania

As the Mon Valley community – along with the rest of the world – continues to push through the COVID pandemic, it's heartening to see people finding ways to create success during these hard times. Christine is one of these people.

Christine enrolled in the Goodwill EARN Program in April 2021. She is the mother of three daughters and one son ranging in ages one to sixteen. Christine had previously completed training and licensing in cosmetology and as a Certified Nurse Assistant. She enrolled in EARN to add skills to her resume, which would increase her employability and earning potential. Her long-term goals are to possibly open a food truck and pursue education and employment as a nurse.

After a few months of the COVID shutdown, Christine started remote training. She completed the National Retail Federation Customer Service & Sales Certified Specialist program as well as the ServSafe® Food Handling Certification. These credentials made her more competitive in the job market. Christine completed these trainings while maintaining a home and helping her children with remote learning for school.

With persistent job searching – along with some help from EARN, including interviewing skills and updating her resume – Christine accepted a full-time position with an insurance staffing agency as a Benefits Verification Specialist in August 2021. Christine said, "the EARN Program helped me put all my ducks in a row and become successful in obtaining helpful credentials that landed me in a career-oriented job." The Goodwill EARN & Work Ready Team will continue to support Christine in achieving her career goals.

Interested in learning more EARN's free services? Call 412-632-1710 or visit www.goodwillswpa.org/earn to learn more about EARN, including how you may be eligible to earn up to $2,700 in incentives before, during, and after job placement.

Administrative offices for Goodwill EARN & Work Ready are located in Lawrenceville at 118 52nd Street, Pittsburgh, PA 15201 (free parking; on bus line). Services can be provided at this and other Goodwill locations throughout Allegheny County – virtually or in person.

Free Job Training Services for Youth Ages 18-24

Goodwill of Southwestern PA

YouthWorks, a program of Goodwill of Southwestern Pennsylvania, is now recruiting young adults, ages 18-24, who can benefit from free programs Goodwill has to offer.

YouthWorks helps young people who need help finding a job, enrolling in a community college or university, or who are looking to make a career change. YouthWorks can also help youth get their GED in addition to many other support services including transportation, financial literacy, and individualized community-based case management services.

Specific young adult programs include:

• Retail Training Program – targeting young adults looking to begin a career in retail but need work experience. The 12-week program prepares individuals for a job in retail, and pays $9.75 while training in a Goodwill store. Youth who successfully complete the program are guaranteed a job at a Goodwill store in their community.

• LifeLaunch: Ignite – targeting young adults who are or have been justice involved and want to work towards a career based on their interest and skills. The program offers an initial assessment and evaluation, job training, support with job search, and additional assistance including transportation, career exploration, mentoring, and follow up and support for an additional year.

• IMPACT Job Search – targeting young adults considering college or starting a job search. This program offers premier job readiness curriculum, mobile case management, assistance with resumes, mock interview, and job search planning.

For more information, visit www.goodwillswpa.org/youth-services. To enroll, call 412-632-1742 or visit

Happy New Year from Dr. Bogen, Director of the Allegheny County Health Department

Allegheny County Health Department

As we enter 2022, COVID-19 remains a constant presence in our community, country, and the world—and there is no clear end in sight. The good news is that we have vaccines and approved and proven treatments for infections and soon we will also have approved preventive therapies.

Unfortunately, cases are again high in our county and state, and we are nearly back to where we were this time last year. Hospitalizations are high, but unlike last year, we have COVID vaccines to greatly decrease the risk of hospitalization and death.

People continue to be misled by inaccurate and misleading information about vaccines and elect not to get vaccinated.

I am waiting for a time when COVID-19 does not preoccupy our world. I had hopes that the vaccines would have made that possible by now, but, sadly, we are not there yet. The virus continues to change and bring new challenges. After the Delta variant, we now face the Omicron variant, which is spreading rapidly and appears to be at least twice as contagious as Delta. We continue to learn more about the latest variant, but there are many important things we just don't yet know, including:

- Whether infections caused by the Omicron variant are more or less severe
- How effective current vaccines and boosters are against Omicron
- How specific populations will be affected by the variant

As more data are collected and analyzed over the coming weeks, we will have a clearer picture of the challenges Omicron presents.

But we already know that the tried-and-true mitigation strategies of wearing properly-fitted masks, limiting gatherings, and maintaining physical distance help reduce the spread of respiratory viruses like COVID-19. Although federal and state mandates on such mitigation efforts have ended, we continue to encourage people to follow CDC guidance, to protect one another and to protect our health care systems from becoming overrun this winter.

It's not just COVID-19. We also have influenza this winter, and cases have returned to pre-pandemic levels.

The Health Department continues to work with vaccine partners across the county to get vaccines to everyone who wants and needs one. Our downtown immunization clinic on Cherry Way is open and busy – we have every COVID-19 vaccine and booster available for anyone who wants them. We also offer influenza vaccine and all childhood and travel vaccines. We prefer you call for an appointment at (412) 578-8062 but walk-ins are accepted.

If you are homebound and can't travel to get a COVID vaccine, please contact your health insurer or call 2-1-1. As for seniors, as we did with the initial vaccine rollout, we and other providers are returning to senior buildings to offer onsite boosters and influenza vaccines.

With that, I'll wish everyone a healthy and happy new year. Please be mindful of your actions and how they might affect you, your loved ones and your communities. And as always – please be safe and be kind.

About the Mon Valley Providers Council

Our Mission: The Mon Valley Providers Council (MVPC), in collaboration with individuals, families, and groups in the Mon Valley communities, will define and address mutual issues and needs. Building upon the providers and communities, the MVPC will promote agendas and develop resources for collective action.

Who We Are: The MVPC, a program of the Human Services Center, is an alliance of human service and related organizations, which are based in or have a substantial service presence in the Mon Valley. The MVPC serves as a formal network for information and resource exchange among human service providers in the Mon Valley. The MVPC involves its member organizations in Working Groups which address crucial issues in the Mon Valley in the areas of Employment and Training, Health, Housing, and Youth. These four Working Groups involve the participation of over 70 dues-paying members and over 250 staff members of those organizations. Through these standing Working Groups, the MVPC promotes cooperation, coordination, and collaboration among its member and participating organizations in an effort to fill gaps in human services in the Mon Valley communities.

Staff: The MVPC is staffed through the Human Services Center.
Current MVPC staff are:
Dave Coplan, Director
Katie Gascoine, Outreach Coordinator
Bethany Dever Bray, Program Assistant

Leadership in the MVPC: Steering Committee
